

Parents,

Your kids have been learning how God is using Christian workers to share the Gospel with the Lhomi (loh-mē) people of Nepal. These Christian workers are giving it all they've got to learn all they can about the people with whom God has asked them to work. They learn the people's heart language — the language the people speak most often and are most comfortable using.

Because Christians are willing to learn about and live among different people in different countries, many are hearing about Jesus and learning about the Bible in their own language for the first time.

You can read more about Nepal and the Lhomi people at commissionstories.com/asia by typing the word "Lhomi" in the search box. As a family, discuss how God is working in this part of the world and pray for the people there. Your family can make a difference in the lives of people living in Nepal from your own home!

Thanks for all you do to keep your kids on mission!
